B. People should never change their plans
C. A ripe tomato should always be picked at night
D. Rain makes all plants disappear

Passage 2: The Map in the Attic

While helping her aunt clean the attic, Sophie discovered a hand-drawn map tucked inside an old book. A dotted line led from the house to a large oak tree, then ended beside a stone wall. Sophie wanted to follow it at once, but her aunt reminded her to ask permission before exploring the property. They checked with the owner, who explained that the map showed the path his family once took to reach a spring. Sophie felt a little disappointed that there was no treasure, yet she was fascinated by the history the map revealed.

1. Who discovers the map?

A. The property owner
B. A neighbor
C. Sophie
D. Her teacher

2. Where does Sophie find it?

A. In an old book in the attic
B. Under a garden bench

3. What problem does Maya's group face first?

A. The toy cars disappear
B. The teacher cancels the challenge
C. The bridge sags under the first car
D. The paper runs out before they begin

4. How does the group respond to the failed design?

A. They hide their bridge
B. They ask to change the rules
C. They study other designs and test a new one
D. They blame one another and quit

5. How many cars does its final bridge hold?

A. One
B. Three
C. Ten
D. Five

6. What theme is supported by the ending?

A. Teamwork prevents every mistake

B. Testing is a waste of time
C. Learning from failure can be a form of success
D. Only first place matters

7. What does the group's response reveal?

A. They avoid trying again
B. They investigate and learn from setbacks
C. They believe evidence is unimportant
D. They prefer blaming others

8. Why does Maya still value the challenge?

A. They never have to build again
B. They learn what to improve next time
C. They receive the most prizes
D. They do not care about the result

9. How does the result compare with the winning team?

A. Their bridge holds three cars; the winner's holds five
B. The winning team does not build a bridge
C. Both bridges hold no cars
D. Their bridge holds more cars than the winner's

10. Which summary best captures the main idea?

A. Maya refuses to work with classmates
B. The class cancels the challenge
C. The group uses evidence and teamwork to improve, even though it does not win
D. The group wins easily without testing
